(sound of engine rumbling)

you're driving to work on a weekday morning. You forgot to grab something for lunch and now you're regretting it. That's not your engine rumbling, that's your stomach crying out for something juicy, and tender. When it comes to satisfying your palette go the place where you're the boss. Tenders is where you make the order. When it comes to lunch, and dinner too Tenders is thinking of you. Tenders, where family is our priority.
